Cash Store.

You should employ all means to keep cool while this hot weather lasts, and it will last two months yet. We can assist you considerably along this line.

We will furnish you gauze underwear—Men's 20 to 40 cents; Ladies' 7 to 43 cents a piece. Straw hats at 12 to 90 cents. Fans at various prices. Negligee shirts. Women's oxfords in Dongola and Vici. Children's tan shoes and parasols. Ladies' summer corsets. Lawn shirt waists. Ladies' umbrellas and large and strong storm umbrellas, family size, the latter at 85 and 95 cents. It is claimed for these that they will not blow inside out.

If its a driving your going, you will need a fly net, cost you 75c to $1.10, worth one-half more. A lap robe at 18c to $1.10, and a nice straight whip, anywhere from 7c to 65c. If your route lies toward the fish pond, a lemon squeezer at 9c or the best made at 11c, and a good stout cork screw will be appreciated, the latter at 3c. If you are only going to the grove one of our 55c or 65c Hammocks would come handy, and maybe a game of Authors, but probably not. Some mosquito net at 6c would not be out of place to guard against mosquitoes and would be wanted at night anyhow to sleep under. We have a pair of 12c ice tongs, just the right size to handle ice about the house refrigerator and ice picks at 5c.

Of course this class of goods is uppermost in your mind, but REMEMBER that we also have others, and that our lines of Ribbons, Laces, Embroideries, Hosiery, Neckwear, Footwear, Tinware, Overalls, Workshirts, Notions of all kinds, are the cheapest ever shown in all this region round about.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Of Cervera and his fleet, we have surely had enough; The New McCormick Mowers are just the stuff.

Old Sampson, he can whip him and all his jack-tars; Those foot liners, fellows, are to raise the cutter bars.

They would better not put Hobson in the front line of the fight; Why? those bars raise just as easy as Dewey took Cavite.

When Shafter gets his siege guns, there will be no time to sleep; At those roller bearing axles, boys! I wish you'd take a peep.

Camera is on the water but our folks isn't caring; But when you buy a mower, be sure it's roller bearing.

The cowboy troops are terrors, I might tell you on the sly; The New McCormick Mower never breaks a sickle eye.

That the Spanish dons are not so warm, it surely has been found; You can't break a pitman when it takes up all the pound.

We are not doing a thing to them, that's easy enough to see; Let every one buy a McCormick, they are sold on guaranty.

—For sale by J. H. Courtney.

As a general thing I am down on all kinds of patent medicines, but am happily disappointed after a trial of Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup among my customers and patients. It relieves all throat and lung difficulties at once.

HARRIS-BROOKS.—Married, at the home of the bride's father, George Brooks, at Evans, Iowa, at 8 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, June 15, 1898, Mr. Thomas E. Harris and Miss Emma Brooks, Rev. Hopkins, of Pella, officiating.

The wedding was one of the prettiest of the season. The home was elaborately and beautifully decorated with roses and orange blossoms. A large company of friends and relatives witnessed the service that linked the two lives together. It was brief but impressive. Congratulations and well wishes having been expressed, the guests were seated to an elaborate wedding supper. The bride is much liked in a large circle of friends and is popular with all who know her. She will rule the new home with a dignity and grace that cannot fail to bring happiness. Mr. Harris is a young man well and highly respected. The bride never looked prettier than when she stood up to give herself and name away. Her costume was a beautiful creation of white organdie over blue silk, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and she wore orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. The groom was in perfect contrast in his black suit. The guests from abroad were: Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Branson, of Trinidad, Colo., a sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. T. Evans, of Avery, sister of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brooks and J. H. Harrison, of Oskaloosa, and Miss Mary Hawkins, of Lost Creek. Many handsome presents were received and the evening was most enjoyably spent.—Oskaloosa (Iowa) Herald.

The Republicans of Oregon came out when the recent campaign opened and declared that they were for the gold standard with all the villainy that was implied by the confession, and that they proposed to make Oregon a goldbug state from the Rockies to the sea. And they did. They hardly left enough Bryanism extant to wad a gun.—Norton Courier.

F. W. King, of Dighton, has at last received his appointment as Receiver of the Land Office at Wa-Keeney, which was promised him several months ago, and will take up his position as soon as his bond is accepted. Frank King is one of the best fellows in this part of the state, and well deserves this good plum. He will give complete satisfaction, and we rejoice with him in his appointment.—Greely County Republican.

The story that the war and the Republican administration was going to make it an impossibility to get harvest hands this year is falling to pieces with the rest of their pretensions. Down through the wheat belt of Kansas there are idle men by the hundreds and harvest is now on.—Hoxie Palladium.

Along side of the Palladium on our exchange table are twenty or thirty other exchanges, republican, democratic and populist, and nearly all of them say the farmers are worrying about harvest hands, and that they are offering $2 and $3 per day for single hands, and $4 to $6 a day for men with teams. Who is lying about this thing anyway?

G. W. Tunnell of Trego county who we are told is judge of the probate court of that county, was among those in attendance upon the Populist convention on Tuesday. He said, in conversation with other parties at the hotel on Monday, that "he would like to call McCormick down on his socialism" thereby claiming that gentleman to be a socialist. He also said in substance that the present administration did not want to prosecute the war vigorously until its creatures had time to fill their pockets, and more rubbish of the same kind. He evidently thinks that soldiers without arms and necessary supplies can whip troops who have arms and at least partial supplies.—Smith Center Pioneer.

O no, Brother Pioneer! The great and learned judge doesn't think anything about it. He hasn't the apparatus.

Sheriff Lynn's canary birds made a bold though unsuccessful dash for liberty the other day. The prisoners are named Blackman and McGrath. McGrath is a dull and vicious brute while Blackman is one of the shrewdest and smoothest gentlemen on the road. Friends on the outside—perhaps the wife of Blackman—had smuggled in files, saws, false whiskers, etc., which the prisoners secreted in their cells. The sheriff had been giving them the privilege of the promenade outside the cells and walked right in on them while they were engaged in sawing the iron bars of the outside windows. He ordered them back into their cells where they are likely to remain the rest of the summer. Since their break for liberty was frustrated they have become most troublesome and abusive, shouting and yelling so that the county officers above can hardly transact their business. There is a horrid black dungeon guarded by double iron doors where the faintest shadow of light never enters, and the noisy canaries will find themselves in it some day unless they behave a little better.
